

Public Education

FACT meets with farmers who use humane and sustainable methods and help promote their products. We are actively involved with farmers' markets and Kathy Seus serves on the Board of the Green City Market in Chicago. FACT also organizes discussions of husbandry systems at conferences involving farmers, chefs, and food retailers.

FACT's Public Education Coordinator, Jacki Rossi, is assisting us in building a stronger education program where we will more aggressively educate and involve FACT constituents and the public on priority issues.

In this way, research, advocacy and education are the tools FACT uses to move forward its public health and humane farming issue agenda.